ABOUT ME

I was born in 1998 in one of the villages of Urmia located in West Azarbaijan province. After completing preliminary studies, I entered University of Farhangian to complete a bachelor's degree. Then I completed my master's degree in University of Tabriz and now I am a PhD candidate in Islamic theology. Researching is one of the main subjects that I have pursued during my academic career and I have always spent a large part of my time on this issue. During 10 years of research I have mostly tried to do research in the field of philosophy and theology, and in the meantime, I have paid special attention to the issues of philosophy of religion, especially the issue of atheism. I have written more than a hundred articles and books in this field over the years, and I am still working and researching in this regard.
